

Privacy, Cybersecurity & Data Protection

Technological developments have made it easier to track and collect personal information creating new exposure and increased liability. Compliance is a moving target so we work with clients to keep them informed of regulatory and statutory changes occurring at the state and national level.

Our Privacy and Data Security attorneys represent and advise a diverse client base, including both the private and public sectors, on a full range of privacy, data security and data breach, and consumer protection challenges. Our interdisciplinary team of attorneys possess a mix of counseling, regulatory, litigation, enforcement and transactional knowledge. We use this insight to help our clients understand and comply with laws that regulate the collection, use, sharing and protection of personal data. We take pride in finding creative and cost effective solutions.

ADDRESSING CRITICAL ISSUES

- Complying with the Electronic Communications Privacy Act and Stored Communications Act
- Defending against third party unauthorized access to critical equipment and systems
- Advising on data security and data breach notification regimes throughout the U.S.
- Counseling on all aspects of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act and California health information privacy and security laws, including compliance, breach notice obligations and response to accusations from the Office for Civil Rights and the California Department of Public Health
