Anna Tang represents and advises emerging and established companies as transactional and general corporate counsel with respect to a wide variety of business transactions including mergers and acquisitions, commercial transactions and corporate governance. She also provides counsel on offerings of equity and debt securities, private equity investments and alternative investments, including venture, credit, commingled real estate, energy, infrastructure and hedge funds. Her representation includes negotiating, drafting and reviewing purchase and acquisition agreements, joint venture, property management, property development, partnership and shareholder agreements, preparation of loan and syndication documents including private placement memoranda, as well as advising on the taxation implications of the transaction. Additionally, amid the evolving COVID-19 pandemic, Anna has been instrumental in advising clients on the various relief and incentive programs available to businesses under the CARES Act.

Having begun her career as a corporate and tax attorney at a top 20 law firm in Australia, Anna has expertise in assisting clients with commercial matters and tax effective structures for Australian investment and activities, and advising multinational and foreign clients on Australian and international commercial and taxation issues.
