Allison Callaghan focuses her practice on employment litigation and counseling. She has a proven track record defending private and public employers in high-stakes litigation, including wage-and-hour class and PAGA representative actions and single-plaintiff harassment, discrimination, and wrongful termination lawsuits. Allison has successfully represented clients in all phases of litigation, including at trial, as well as in administrative proceedings.

Allison also regularly provides advice and counsel to employers on a broad array of employment issues, including discipline and termination, reasonable accommodation, family and medical leave, paid sick leave, layoffs, wage and hour compliance, personnel policies and procedures, and employment-related agreements. Allison is also an effective trainer and conducts workplace investigations.

Allison has been recognized as a “Rising Star” by Super Lawyers and a “One to Watch” by Best Lawyers. She holds a J.D. from the University of California, Davis School of Law, and a B.A. from Claremont McKenna College.
