Anna Tang serves as the co-chair of Nossaman's Corporate Group. She is a leading corporate lawyer, highly regarded for her pragmatic commercial approach and for her capacity to work through complex and strategic legal issues and transactions.

Anna represents and advises emerging and established companies through a broad range of industries as transactional and general corporate counsel with respect to a wide variety of business transactions, including mergers and acquisitions, commercial agreements and negotiations and corporate governance. She works closely with clients at all stage of the business lifecycle – from setting up and buying a business through restructuring, disposing of businesses and assets and winding down a business.

Her representation includes entity formation, negotiating, drafting and reviewing all forms of commercial agreements and negotiations, purchase agreements, joint venture, partnership and shareholder and other forms of equity agreements, preparation of syndication documents including private placement memoranda, as well as advising on the taxation implications of the transaction.

In addition to her general corporate clients, Anna works with many healthcare and real estate clients. She represents owners, operators and managers of ambulatory surgical centers and surgical hospitals, outpatient imaging facilities and hospice programs in the development of facilities throughout the United States. She also advises managed care medical groups and independent practice associations in restructuring and combinations with other organizations. Additionally, she has represented various real estate entities and property developers in the formation of joint ventures and associated ownership and holding entities, and in the acquisition of third party financing.

Having begun her career as a corporate and tax attorney at a top 20 law firm in Australia, Anna has expertise in assisting clients with commercial matters and tax effective structures for Australian investments and activities. She also advises multinational and foreign clients on Australian and international commercial and taxation issues.

EXPERIENCE
