

Real Property

Real property is all encompassing. We serve clients facing challenges as well as those seeking to seize opportunities.

Our work for lenders, borrowers, investors, developers and occupiers, affords us a comprehensive view of the industry, its operation and points of friction. Clients appreciate our insight and trust us to handle their transactions, litigation and regulatory matters.

Clients with real property needs rely upon our experts in a number of substantive areas, including real estate, environment, land use, eminent domain, corporate, litigation, water law and government relations.

We represent clients in all segments, including office, commercial, industrial, agricultural, hospitality and natural resources.
